Near-Record Flood Crests Roll South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Residents along the Mississippi River in Iowa and Illinois maintained patrols on dikes and levees today as one of the highest flood crests of the century rolled southward.
The Mississippi was above flood stage from Libby, Minn., to Cape Girardeau, Mo. The crest was expected to reach Prairie du Chien, Wis., today and Dubuque, Iowa, Saturday.
The Weather Bureau said the river would crest at 6.6 feet above flood stage at Dubuque.
Most riverside communities were confident that reinforced defense systems would save them from the spring flooding that has already caused an estimated $49 million damage to the north.
But the Army Corps of Engineers urged constant vigilance over the seawalls, heightened levees, emergency dikes and drainage areas and warned the most dangerous period was yet to come.
The aftermath of the crest would be critical, it said, because the earthen levees, weakened by river pressures, would be vulnerable to softening.
Some communities still have not fully recovered from the worst Mississippi flood on record, in 1965, when 38,000 persons fled their homes and damage mounted to $150 million.
In Minot, N.D., where the overflowing Souris River earlier had sliced the community in two, the waters pushed through a plugged culvert Tuesday, flooding an additional 100 homes.
One-third of the town's 35,000 residents already had been evacuated, but officials removed many more because of the leak beneath the Soo Line rail tracks. Army engineers used rock, clay and sandbags to stem the flow.
Overflows subsided on some tributaries of the Mississippi, particularly the Minnesota and the Des Moines. But only the Big Sioux of South Dakota had receded from flood stage and returned to its banks.
The crest on the northward-flowing Red River, which expanded to an 8-by-150-mile lake along the Minnesota-North Dakota border, surged toward Pembina, northernmost city below Canada.
In Wisconsin, the Mississippi was receding at La Crosse and points upstream and officials reported the situation under control.

Koreans Say U.S. Plans New War

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea claimed today the United States is building up its forces in and around Korea in preparation for a new war. It charged U.S. forces in South Korea fired into North Korean territory.
At the same time it upheld its right to shoot down U.S. planes which it said violate North Korean air space. It contended a U.S. Navy plane shot down April 15 had done this.
The United States says the plane never was closer than 40 miles to North Korea and that parts of its wreckage were recovered 90 miles off the shore.
The North Korean charges came in a broadcast dispatch of its official Korean Central News Agency and from Radio Pyongyang.
The North Korean radio broadcast monitored here said the firing from South Korea took place from 5 a.m. today in areas of Jookdong and Seowonri, southeast of Kimhwa, by mobilizing guns and heavy weapons of various calibers, including 105mm Howitzers.
Recently, the broadcast said, the U.S. Army began perpetrating more frequent and hideous acts for the provocation of a new war, while bringing into the demilitarized zone various guns and heavy weapons, including 81mm mortars and 57mm recoilless guns, in violation of the Korean armistice agreement.

Postal Rate Hike Blasted By Senator

First Class Mail Rate Would Go Up To 7 Cents
WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Post Office Committee says President Nixon's proposed one cent hike in first class mail rates is a scheme "to get the administration out of a budget bind."
"As I understand it," Sen. Gale W. McGee said in an interview, revenue from the boost from 6 to 7 cents "will not necessarily improve mail service at all. It will go largely to pay for capital improvements which should be financed by the government's general revenues."
However, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he agrees with the administration that the hike, included in a $611-million postal rate increase proposal, is necessary.
Dirksen said if McGee's committee doesn't approve the bill, he might attach it as a rider to some unrelated legislation.
When the bill is filed and when administration plans for revision of postal operations are clearer, McGee said, he'll hold hearings on the request.
McGee also said he was disappointed (Continued on Page 2)

A NOTICEABLE drop in temperatures occurred in the Roundtown area Tuesday as rain started to fall. The Wednesday forecast for mostly sunny and mild weather has been altered to cloudy cool and light rains. The local weather observer indicated that Wednesday's overnight low temperatures may bring scattered light frost, particularly to outlying areas. A return of more spring-like weather is anticipated Thursday with a return of sunny skies and temperatures near the 60 mark.

Sirhan Jury Deadlocked In 3rd Day

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For 70 days the jurors in the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial have eaten together, relaxed together, slept in the same hotel and even agreed on a first degree murder verdict. But so far they obviously can't agree whether Sirhan shall live or die for murdering Robert F. Kennedy.
For 2½ hours Monday and 6½ Tuesday, the seven men and five women discussed the penalty without coming to a consensus—raising a small spectre of a hung jury in a trial that has lasted more than 15 weeks.
"I am concerned about it," said Grant B. Cooper, the chief defense counsel, who sweated out the verdict in the courtroom. "Either a minority or a majority are voting for death."
Cooper had asked for a verdict of second degree murder—which carries a penalty of five years to life. After the jury voted first degree after 3½ days of deliberation, he pleaded that Sirhan's life be spared.
Prosecutor John E. Howard, who told the jury that since Sirhan was convicted of first degree murder "he has no special claim to further preservation," said he was not surprised by the length of penalty deliberations.
"I think they are giving it conscientious consideration," Howard said. "I never expected them back before Wednesday."

Agnew Defends Missile Network As Necessary

NEW YORK (AP) — The Safeguard antimissile system proposed by President Nixon is not a barrier to eventual disarmament, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says.
"Our goal is not simply to maintain a sufficiency in defensive arms but to seek disarmament," he said Tuesday at a dinner meeting of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.
Agnew added: "If the United States should achieve a major political breakthrough with the Soviet Union—or if we reach the elusive but ultimate goal of disarmament, construction of the ABM system can be halted immediately."
The vice president defended development of the controversial Safeguard system, saying: "We only have diplomatic credibility if we maintain strategic force equilibrium. We have no bargaining status with the Soviet Union unless we can protect our nuclear deterrent power."

6 Copters Crash In Viet Action

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced the loss of six helicopters, including a fiery midair collision that killed 16 American and South Vietnamese soldiers and left no survivors.
The other crashes killed three Americans and wounded three U.S. soldiers and 20 South Vietnamese.
The collision occurred about 1 a.m. today 35 miles north of Saigon between two U.S. Army choppers carrying South Vietnamese infantrymen on a night assault. Eight American crewmen and eight South Vietnamese soldiers were killed when the helicopters plunged to the ground in flames.
U.S. headquarters said the cause of the crash is being investigated.
Three other helicopters were lost to enemy fire within an eight-hour period Tuesday two miles below the eastern flank of the demilitarized zone.
First a big U.S. Marine CH-46 helicopter landing South Vietnamese infantrymen on a hilltop crashed, apparently hit an enemy land mine and exploded. Two American crewmen were killed and three crewmen and 14 South Vietnamese infantrymen were wounded.
All the dead and wounded were lifted out by another helicopter except a South Vietnamese company commander and his radio operator, who apparently were overlooked. A smaller helicopter that came to pick them up 4½ hours later also hit a mine while landing. One U.S. crewman was killed and three South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded.
A third helicopter from the 101st Airborne Division came in to help, and ground fire from the slopes of the same hill brought it down. There were no (Continued on Page 2)

Scattered Gunfire Continues In Mideast; Thant Alarmed

JERUSALEM (AP) — Arabs and Israelis exchanged fire again today along the Jordanian border near the Israeli frontier city of Beit Shean, and there were reports of at least two terrorist incidents as Israel continued to celebrate the 21st anniversary of its independence.
An Israeli army spokesman said Arab rocket fire burst near Beit Shean, four miles from the Jordanian border, and that the fire was returned. He gave no other details.
Three Arabs were wounded in occupied Gaza City when a small package of explosives blew up in a movie house. Authorities said no movie was showing and the Arabs were held for questioning. A grenade also was hurled at a police jeep in the tense city and troops searched for the attacker.
Independence celebrations continued, but police were everywhere and the cities were ringed by roadblocks. Citizens were warned to be on the alert for terrorist attacks.
Israel's independence was proclaimed May 14, 1948, but the anniversary falls on April 23 this year, according to the Hebrew lunar calendar.
Israeli diplomats said today the cease-fire along the Suez Canal has not broken down despite Secretary-General U Thant's warning that a "virtual state of active war" exists in the area.
The diplomats said Thant had filed to take into consideration reports from U.N. military observers that Egypt had initiated most of the recent fighting along the 103-mile waterway. They claimed that Cairo is attempting to create a war scare in order to pressure the Big Four powers in a pro-Arab plan of settlement for the Middle East crisis.
Some diplomat at the United Nations in New York said the recurrent fighting might indeed be prodding the Big Four to greater effort. They added that the alarmist tone of Thant's report left him open to charges that he was agreeing with the contention by Egypt and Jordan that war is inevitable unless the Big Four force Israel into a settlement acceptable to the Arabs. Israel, which opposes outside intervention, denies that there is danger of war.
Thant in a special report to the U.N. Security Council said the council's cease-fire resolutions had "become almost totally ineffective" through 12 straight days of fighting along the canal. But the council president for April, Maj. Gen. Padma Bahadur of Nepal, polled the other council members, and they decided not to hold a special meeting on the report.

Removal Of Tax Shelters For The Rich Advocated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top Republican and Democratic members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee both say President Nixon's tax reform proposals do not go far enough in eliminating tax shelters for the very rich.
Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and the committee's ranking Republican, Wisconsin Rep. John W. Byrne, said what is needed is the removal of exemptions and loopholes that allow some wealthy persons to avoid paying any federal income tax.
Nixon, they said, merely wants to limit the use of such tax shelters, not purge them from the tax structure.
They raised the issue Tuesday as Treasury Undersecretary Charles E. Walker and assistant secretary Edwin S. Cohen went before the committee to begin detailing what was emphasized as the administration's interim tax program.
Initial reaction from the committee, which passes on all tax bills, appeared favorable to two major elements of the program—halving the income surtax next year and repeal of the 7 per cent business investment credit.
These two issues are assured prompt consideration because the 10 per cent surtax is to expire completely June 30 unless Congress acts and Mills wants to link consideration of the surtax extension with repeal of the investment credit.
In discussing the advantages now enjoyed by high income earners, Mills indicated Nixon was timid in failing to call for an end to tax shelters.
"There is a momentum for change," Mills said. "I want us to act while this momentum exists, while taxpayers still remember what they paid on April 15."
Byrne told newsmen he would not be surprised to see the committee go well beyond the administration suggestions.
Mills questioned the administration witnesses as to why they had not given more weight to the reduced tax on capital gains in drawing their interim proposals on tax shelters.
Walker and Cohen said a change in capital gains taxation would be a fundamental one, and the treasury is including it in the basic study Nixon has asked to be completed by Nov. 30.

Local Election Board Names New Director

Pickaway County Board of Elections announced Wednesday that it had hired Mrs. Melvin Struckman, 329 E. Main St., as its new director.
Mrs. Struckman, a native of Circleville, is currently employed in Columbus by the office of the Adjutant General of the State of Ohio.
She was formerly employed by Replogle Company and the law firm of Simkins and Young.
The new director will assume the position May 5.
Under the bill, all state workers making $4 an hour or less would get a raise.
Bilik said he felt the state administration "is working on the basis of good faith" and hinted that this sunon may call off its planned April 30 day of mourning for state employees.
A work boycott was called for that day to protest wages state workers receive.
In other action, the Senate passed, as expected, a bill to require a conglomerate wanting to take over an Ohio firm to make a full disclosure of the assets and its reorganization plan for that firm.
The bill passed as an emergency by a 30-2 vote and now goes to the House.
Sens. Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Piqua and Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, voted against it.

Sonic Booms Help Houses

ANAHEIM (AP) — There's nothing like a mild sonic boom now and then to tune up a house, says a boom expert.
"The booms slow down deterioration and aging of houses," J.H. Wiggins Jr. told a meeting of the Institute of Environmental Sciences Tuesday.
No one knows just why booms do what they do for houses, he said, but one theory is that a shake now and then relieves accumulated stresses.
Wiggins directed government boom tests at White Sands, N.M., in 1964 and 1965 and has spent five years studying their effects.
Repeated sonic booms, he said, have actually lowered the rate at which defects show up in buildings.

Minority Bars White Students At CCNY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
City College of New York—the nation's largest tuition-free undergraduate college—remained closed today as minority group students barred whites from half the campus.
Militant blacks at Cornell University waited to see if the faculty would reconsider and drop charges stemming from an earlier demonstration, while protests continued at other campuses.
About 150 black and Puerto Rican students sealed four gates on City College's South Campus Tuesday, several hours later, President Buell Gallagher canceled classes for the school's 20,000 students.
Police clipped chains the students had put on the gates, but the protesters stood shoulder-to-shoulder in a pouring rain and kept all whites outside.
Three blocks away, about 200 white radicals began a sit-in in the administration building to support the blacks' demands for open enrollment for all high school graduates and a separate-but-not-autonomous school of black students.
A City College spokesman said about 1,500 of the school's 12,000 day session enrollment is black or Puerto Rican. Another 3,000 attend night classes. The protesters contend the student body should reflect the city's high schools, which are about 52 per cent black and Puerto Rican.
At Cornell, in Ithaca, N.Y., a 16-member faculty council Tuesday night asked the entire faculty of 1,500 to meet today and accept the militants' demand to drop discipline against five blacks, which the faculty refused to do Monday night.
The faculty has final power in disciplinary matters.
About 245 sheriff's deputies from nearby counties remained near the campus, all armed with riot control equipment, at the request of Tompkins County Sheriff Robert L. Howard.
Leaders of Students for a Democratic Society drew 6,000 students to a rally and asked them to stage a sit-in to back the blacks' demands. Cornell has 14,000 students, 250 of them blacks.
Cornell President James A. Perkins banned guns from campus Tuesday, but made no move to pick up weapons, including the shotguns and rifles the blacks displayed after seizing the student union over the weekend.
Meanwhile, in Washington, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., introduced a bill to provide imprisonment and fines for demonstrators who interfere with the operations of any school receiving federal funds.
Nine students announced in Washington that they would refuse to accept induction into the armed forces. They said more than 250 student body presidents and newspaper editors had signed a pledge taking that position.

Organized Underworld Prime Target

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, proposing a $61 million war against organized crime, asked Congress today to make corruption of police and local officials and operation of large-scale illegal gambling rings federal offenses.

Unions Claim Pay Bill Credit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two unions would like to take credit for a bill in the Ohio Legislature calling for $41.5 million in pay increases and hospitalization insurance benefits for state workers.
"I'm quite convinced that if it were not for the militant stance taken by the state employees union that the pay raises would not have been proposed," said Al Bilik, director of Council 21 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME).
On Tuesday, James F. Marshall, executive secretary of the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association, noted that the bill resulted from "week-long negotiations" with his organization.
Both unions indicated the bill could be stronger. Bilik said it was "not enough, but a step forward," and Marshall termed it "an excellent starting point."
The bill was introduced in the Senate Tuesday by the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Robert R. Shaw, R-16 Columbus. It provides pay raises for 87 per cent of the state's 47,000 employees and a new hospitalization plan for all of them.
Under the bill, all state workers making $4 an hour or less would get a raise.
Bilik said he felt the state administration "is working on the basis of good faith" and hinted that this sunon may call off its planned April 30 day of mourning for state employees.
A work boycott was called for that day to protest wages state workers receive.
In other action, the Senate passed, as expected, a bill to require a conglomerate wanting to take over an Ohio firm to make a full disclosure of the assets and its reorganization plan for that firm.

More Iranian Ships To Test Travel Right

TEHRAN (AP) — Three more Iranian freighters are being prepared for escorted voyages down the disputed Shatt al Arab estuary between Iran and Iraq. No sailing dates were announced.
Spokesmen said the 16,000-ton Arya-Far would go first, followed by the Paikan and Nasrin, all owned by the Iranian shipping company Arya. They said the ships would have navy and air force escorts.
Hamid Mousavian, chairman of Arya, said Iraqi pilots would not be allowed to board Iranian ships in the future.
Tension eased somewhat along the 80-mile waterway following Tuesday's undisturbed passage of the Iranian freighter Ebne Sina. Ships of other countries fly the flags of both Iraq and Iran when sailing through the Shatt al Arab and make the voyage unmolested.
Iranian Navy boats still patrolled the estuary and Iranian Phantom jets were flying overhead. Iraqi troops were reported still massed on their side of the waterway, but Iraq's interior minister denied this and said his country would not allow itself to be drawn into battle with Iran.
"For us there is only one issue to which we devote all our efforts—Palestine," said the minister, Lt. Gen. Saleh Mahdi Ammash. "Iraq does not wish to open fronts and start quarrels."

Wartburg College Musical Slated At Teays Valley

KNIGHTLITERS — The Knightlites, Wartburg College students selected from the Castle Singers and Wind Band, will present several selections when the two groups combine for a musical production at Teays Valley High School 8 p.m. Monday. The variety concert is open to the public at no charge.

A joint concert-production by Wartburg College's band and Castle Singers will be staged 8 p.m. Monday at Teays Valley High School.

This is one of 11 stops scheduled on a spring tour which begins April 23 and ends with a home concert May 6.

It marks the first time that these two musical organizations have toured together. In the past, each has had its own itinerary.

Concert-productions are set in Iowa, Indiana, Ohio, Maryland, Illinois and the District of Columbia. The latter will be held at noon April 30 on the steps of the House of Representatives (in case of bad weather, it will be moved to the Rotunda of the old Senate building) in Washington, D. C. Arrangements were made by members of the Iowa congressional delegation.

Dr. Robert E. Lee, who is on his ninth tour with the band, will direct both groups. Dr. James E. Fritschel, who is the regular Singers' director, is on tour with the Wartburg Choir this spring.

A native of Scandinavia, Wis., Dr. Lee received his B.A. degree from Luther College of Decorah, Ia., and his M.A. from the University of Wisconsin in 1956. He earned his Ph.D. at the University of Iowa in 1966.

The first half of the tour program will be presented by a 40-member Wartburg Wind Band. The instrumentalists will then combine for two numbers with the 27 voices of the Castle Singers. A musical editorial, "Tell It Like It Is," by the Singers will wrap up the concert-production.

Senior Don Trapp of St. Paul, Minn., will be a featured soloist in "Trumpet Nocturne" during the first half of the program.

The last portion is an updated and condensed version of last year's Singers tour show. It deals with the problems of power — Black power, Green power, power of persuasion.

Electronic sounds of Donald Erb, composer-in-residence for the Dallas Symphony and a musical editorial will highlight the musical production.

A variety of art forms to be used include folk music, dance, the printed word and the cinema.

Erb's composition, "Reticulation," will be the most avant-garde piece scheduled. The composer is currently at work on a piece commissioned especially for Wartburg's choir. Works of Shostakovich, Aaron Copland, Persichetti and Rimsky-Korsakov, will also be presented by the band.

The group groups will present Psalm 130 and Psalm 148, by William P. Latham, together.

Bill Introduced To Revise Public Library Legislation

A bill introduced in the Ohio Senate April 10 will result in the first major revision of library legislation since 1947.

Introduced by Senators William W. Taft of Cleveland, Oliver Ocasek of Akron, Max H. Dennis of Wilmington and Robert T. Secrest of Cambridge, the bill will lay the basis for Ohio library services for the next decade.

According to the Ohio Library Association, sponsors of the legislation, the bill is based on a plan drawn up by 2,000 Ohio librarians, trustees and citizens in the state. Much of the bill is related to a two-year study of the library needs in Ohio requested by the public libraries themselves.

The survey analyzed the effectiveness of their library services and was the first comprehensive study of public library services in Ohio undertaken in the past 30 years.

The proposed legislation will provide the basis for long-range improvement in library services to every resident of Ohio. It also provides for the better use of existing library and information resources throughout the state. In effect, the total specialized resources in major research libraries in Ohio will eventually be available on a statewide basis.

The new bill will clarify the position of the State Library Board and update the language relating to the State Librarian. The major new section of the bill however will enable all Ohio's 259 public libraries to guarantee essential library services to every citizen in the state through cooperative programs. The bill will lay the basis for Aera Library Service Organizations, which will enable libraries in two or more counties to band together voluntarily to bring more adequate service to their areas.

The bill also makes provision for information networks that will link all libraries with major research collections in Ohio's metropolitan, university and special libraries.

Built into the plan is the premise that essential library service is important to the economic and educational development of the state, and that adequate library services are essential to educational and vocational training programs as well as the business and industrial development of the state.

The legislation states that such funds as provided by the General Assembly and the federal government shall be administered:

"to ensure every resident of Ohio access to essential public library services; to provide adequate library materials to satisfy the reference and research needs of the people of Ohio; to assure and encourage local initiative and responsibility and support for library services; to encourage the formation of viable area library service organizations and library systems providing a full range of library services; to develop adequate standards of services, resources and programs that will serve as a source of information and inspiration to persons of all ages, handicapped persons, disadvantaged persons, and will encourage continuing education beyond the years of formal education; and to encourage adequate financing of public libraries from local sources with state aid to be furnished as a supplement to other library financial resources."

"We have heard lots of statements from the new administration about how it was going to institute business practices in the Postoffice Department," he said.

imprisonment of a Mafia lieutenant can curtail operations, but does not put the syndicate out of business," he said.

Nixon hit hard during his presidential campaign on the issues of violence, illegal gambling and organized crime's infiltration of legitimate business. And he called the nation's booming crime rate "a great national disaster."

S. Bloomfield Ex-Marshall Not Guilty Of Embezzlement

South Bloomfield's ex-marshall, Harry Alberly, was found not guilty Wednesday morning of the charge of embezzlement of village funds.

The common pleas court jury deliberated for about 90 minutes before returning its verdict to Judge William Ammer.

Alberly had been accused by South Bloomfield Mayor Lester George of embezzling $862 while serving as village marshal between Sept. 12 and Sept. 23, 1968.

The jury had retired for deliberations about 10:30 a.m. Wednesday after summations were presented by County Prosecutor Roy Huffer Jr. and Defense Attorney Paul Cassidy of Columbus.

Cassidy had delivered the last of the defenses' case Tuesday afternoon following about four hours of testimony. The state's case began Monday morning and lasted until about noon Tuesday.

Jury members were William Schooley, James Walker, Frances Hunter, Robert Burton, Margaret Helwagen, Dorothy Ellingsworth, Frances Renick, Marie Ankrom, Harry Sharrett, Lois Melvin, Carolyn Diltz and Dorothy Valentine. Carol Weldon was the alternate.

American casualties, but three South Vietnamese troops were wounded.

Another helicopter managed to lift out the survivors and the dead, field reports said.

The sixth helicopter lost, a light observation craft, was hit by enemy ground fire and crashed while on a reconnaissance mission 60 miles west of Saigon. It was destroyed but no body was hurt.

The losses raised to 2,549 the number of American helicopters lost in the Vietnam war.

Elsewhere, the U. S. Command, reported allied forces backed by helicopter gunships and bombers killed 55 North Vietnamese soldiers in the past 24 hours in the central highlands, 180 miles north of Saigon. There were no allied casualties, it said.

Military sources reported that the only three North Vietnamese battalions threatening Saigon from the south and west — more than 1,000 men — have pulled back into the marshy Plain of Reeds or across the Cambodian border.

Viet Cong units in the upper Mekong Delta also are breaking up into platoons and squads the sources said.

This tied in with reports that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong are receiving supplies and replacements and conserving their strength for a possible summer-autumn offensive while continuing the nine-week-old spring offensive with rocket and mortar attacks.

Bomb Threats Received By 2 Area Plants

Bomb threats were received by two local plants Tuesday night, according to a report by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

The threats were phoned to DuPont at 8:59 p.m. and to Owens-Illinois at 9:35 p.m.

Investigation of the incidents is continuing under the direction of Sheriff Radcliff.

Persons found guilty of misusing the telephones may be fined $500 and sentenced to six months in jail, according to the sheriff.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is a lamp.

It burns by day and by night. You can dim it during sleep but even then its beams gleam fitfully in your dreams, haunting your mind with images from before.

Yes, memory is a lovely lamp whose rays light up the past and keep it alive in the living present. Without that lamp our lives would be merely a blind stumble in the dark from one terror to another. By its help, however, our world has meaning.

Your own memory lamp is working pretty well if you can look back and remember when —

No wife ever took an overnight trip away from home without worrying whether she had emptied the pan under the icebox.

A bootblack was pleased to get a nickel tip because that was 50 per cent over what you had paid him for the shine.

The only people who owned two-car garages were those who had converted them from two-buggy barns.

Instead of trying to avoid measles, parents thought it was a good idea for the kids to have them and get them over with.

It was doubted whether the infant commercial aviation industry could succeed if it didn't continue to provide parachutes for every passenger.

You could buy a pretty good house for what it now costs to send a kid to college for a year.

Whether you had voted for him or not, your congressman on request would send you a free packet of garden seeds each spring.

Children yelled "Beaver!" everytime they saw a white horse or a man with a beard.

Only men told naughty stories in mixed company—and they were frowned on.

Actors and bankers always wore high collars.

Women movie stars hated to admit they enjoyed cooking for fear the public would think them less glamorous.

The most widespread fear among people in rural areas was the dread of having to end their days at the county poor farm.

It was easy to tell which kids wasted their time after classes shooting marbles for keeps in the schoolyard. They had raw knuckles.

Folks hesitated to order fish in a restaurant on Wednesday, figuring it was probably left over from the Friday before.

Some preachers joined economists in denouncing the five-day fever of the working classes because they wouldn't know how to use their extra leisure time wisely.

You could turn a neighbor back home green with envy by sending him a postcard telling him you'd driven all of 200 miles in a single day.

There were more enrolled Republicans than Democrats in America, more carpet sweepers than vacuum cleaners, and more lightning rods than television aerials.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A YOUNG COLLEGE grad, rated for three successive years as one of America's top ten tennis players, wound up as a specialist-four at an army camp in Kansas. There, unheralded, he entered a tennis tournament at the post, and on his way to the championship, bumped off in turn a captain, a major, and a colonel. Accepting the cup, he nodded appreciatively and confessed, "Any day now I expect orders for Viet Nam!"

George Burns tells about a pair of veteran vaudevillians who realized a life-long dream in the twilight of their careers. They were booked at the famous Palace Theatre in New York! On the same bill with them was the great matinee idol, John Barrymore. They approached Barrymore diffidently after the Monday matinee, and invited him to have a drink with them. "Not today," Barrymore begged off. "I've lost my mother and I'm desolate."

"We know just how you feel," sympathized the female member of the team. "We just lost our trunk."

Joe E. Lewis, greatest of the night club comics, began his career in joints owned and managed by mobsters. "At the first place I worked," recalls Lewis, "the boss used to shoot you good night."

Lewis pooh-poos doctors who urge him to stop drinking. "Never," he vows. "I know lots more old drunks than I know old doctors."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Many women past the age of 35 live with expressed and unexpressed fears about the approach of the menopause or change of life. Much of the unnecessary anxiety is based on the fact that false information and myths have been handed down from generation to generation about this period in a woman's life.

The word menopause is derived from the Greek "menos" meaning month and "pauzein" meaning to cease. Menopause, therefore is that period of normal change when menstruation slows down and finally ceases during middle age. The age varies with each individual woman and has been known to vary in different geographic areas. In some cases symptoms of change of life have occurred as early as 30 years of age, while in others they may not appear until past 50.

Sudden episodes of hot flashes and unexplained perspiration, with restlessness and fatigue, are known to occur during this stage and often may alter the emotional stability of the woman. The psychological overtones are particularly severe when women falsely believe that their attractiveness, sexuality, and general health will be impaired by the onset of the menopause.

The symptoms of change of life are due to a temporary imbalance or a deficiency of the hormones produced by the ovaries and other endocrine glands. Estrogen, the female hormone, is not being used extensively by a great many physicians to supplement the lagging production of this hormone during the menopausal period.

The decision to use this hormone, of course, depends on the physician's finding in each particular case. Since the emotions are intimately involved with all bodily changes, it is wise for women to thoroughly discuss the problem of the menopause with their doctor to avoid the pitfalls of anxiety so frequent at the time of this change of life. It frequently comes as a surprise that many women flourish emotionally and physically when they gracefully mature into the menopause.

Cortisone and ACTH are sometimes confused by patients, especially those who are basically afraid of their use. Physicians are constantly aware that they must explain these hormones with a great deal of assurance because patients seem so concerned that their use is limited only to "dangerous" conditions. Doctors use these and other hormones sparingly, and for a limited time, so that under their supervision the chances of lasting side effects are at a minimum.

Cortisone is a hormone that is produced by the adrenal gland which lies close to the kidney. ACTH is manufactured in the pituitary gland which lies in the brain. These letters stand for adrenocorticotrophic hormone. Both are part of a remarkable and complex relay system and they work hand in hand for the control of the water balance, the salt, sugar, and protein content of the body. Both are exceedingly valuable discoveries in this great era of medicine and have brought control of many diseases that may otherwise have made invalids of thousands of patients.

Vaccine Funds Nearly Gone, Officials Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Measles and polio vaccination programs for Ohio children may be hampered by expiration of a 1963 federal law, it was reported Tuesday.

The programs were made possible by the Vaccination Assistance Act which expired last June. Funds for the programs will be exhausted June 30.

The Ohio Department of health authorities, uses funds from the act to immunize about 40,000 children each year. It is estimated that private physicians inoculate about 120,000 of the 185,000 children born each year.

Dr. Calvin Spencer, chief of the communicable diseases division, said it is too soon to project how Ohio might maintain the program once the money is exhausted.

The burro descends from the North African gray donkey and probably was first tamed by man in the New Stone Age some 12,000 years ago.

Who Cares For Consumers

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
The more that politicians "defend" the consumer, the more the consumer gets it in the neck.

There is, for example, Ralph Nader's long campaign to protect the automobile owner against cars that are allegedly "unsafe at any speed." In the course of carrying out his vendetta against Detroit, Nader did help to speed the acceptance of seat belts, which were a coming thing anyway. But when Detroit tried to argue that the Nader "reforms" (such as padded dashboards) were minor matters as compared to the necessity for better driver education, more safely designed highways, and stronger laws against drinking while on the road, this was dismissed by the "consumer protectors" as a bit of diversionary hypocrisy.

So? Well, the National Safety Council of Chicago keeps sending out those month-by-month compilations of traffic accident statistics. There isn't any discernible change between pre-Nader and post-Nader years. Some months show an improvement, but then something happens to make cynics of us all. Last November, for instance, was the worst month in traffic safety in the history of the Republic (5,440 deaths as against 4,730 for the previous November). And, as it turned out, 1968 as a whole was no improvement over 1967. Detroit is right: it is the driver, not the machine, that is the primary culprit. One thing we do know: cars with all the new safety devices cost the consumer plenty.

If Nader has the consumer at heart, why doesn't he do something about the Food and Drug Administration's arbitrary attitude toward the drug industry? No one wants any new thalidomide debacles, of course. But the first issue of a new magazine, Private Practice: the Journal of the Congress of County Medical Societies, tells about FDA dawdling over the approval of antibiotics that have had a long period of safe use in Great Britain.

The latest FDA adventure in "consumer protection" involves a campaign against artificial sweeteners. If there is a medical danger in using cyclamate sweeteners, we should know about it. But Abbott Laboratories' Chairman George R. Cain, armed with the National Academy of Science's clean bill of health for cyclamates used in reasonable proportions by people trying to reduce their consumption of fattening carbohydrates, accuses the FDA of "feeding the propaganda mill of the sugar interests" in its proposal to cut the use of artificial sweeteners. I am not a "cyclamate man" myself (I like to keep slim by exercise), but the FDA's interest in promoting sugar seems to me quite ironical. For I happen to be on the mailing lists of organizations which insist that refined white sugar itself is a major menace to the health of the consumer. A saisi: he per capita consumption of sugar is 100 pounds annually, which is five times what it was a century ago. The vitamin protagonists (maybe they are cranks, maybe they are not) insist that the good in sugar cane goes into the molasses residue after the refining processes are done. They also argue that the inordinate consumption of sugar, in the U.S. has added to our toll of diabetes and obesity. I don't argue for or against sugar-versus-cyclamates. All I say is that the FDA's concern for the "consumer" here is somewhat phony.

Then there are the proponents of all sorts of quotas and prohibitions on imported textiles, steels, and even such a minor thing as the undersized Mexican tomato. Before he went out of office, Orville Freeman, LBJ's Secretary of Agriculture, put through an arbitrary ruling that only tomatoes of a certain size should be allowed to cross the sacred borders of the U.S. Arizona's Barry Goldwater, newly returned to the Senate, quite correctly observed that the ban on small-sized tomatoes hurt the salad eaters of the Tucson-Nogales area of his state, who depended on Mexican suppliers.

The tomato-growing season is coming to an end, but no relief is in sight for the poor Mexican farmer who has traditionally shipped his crop to Arizona. Incidentally, the Mexican tomato grower buys perfectly good American tractors, harrows, plows, and fertilizers, so, in cutting off his income, it hurts U.S. manufacturers as well as the salad eaters in the Goldwater constituency.

About the drivers of the steel industry and the textile industry to cut down on offshore competition, I lived through the Smoot-Hawley high tariff period and know that protectionism helps breed depression. Makers of foreign textiles use U.S. fibers; if they can't sell us shirts, they won't buy our cotton and synthetics. As for steel, there is nothing that modernization of U. S. plants can't cure.

Ralph Nader has plenty of scope for new crusading on behalf of the consumer. But does he really care? I am a typical consumer, and I want to spend my money where I want to spend it. I notice that Mr. Nader has not helped put a crimp in either taxes or rising prices.

Michener's 'Hawaii'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Mirisch Brothers have discovered a gold mine in James Michener's "Hawaii." The big best-seller has now inspired a second movie, "The Hawaiians." Film buffs can probably find an example, but I can't recall an instance where a single novel has provided plots for two movies. Sequels, yes—"Return to Peyton Place," "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls," etc.

"But I want to get the message across: 'The Hawaiian' is not a sequel," insists Walter Mirisch, the professional-looking producer of both Michener films. "A sequel uses the same characters and moves them beyond the time span in the original movie. Our picture will use entirely new characters in another period of Hawaiian history."

Michener's tale of the 50th state has had a curious career in the film world. Fred Zinnemann was originally scheduled to make the movie. Overwhelmed by the immense story—from the geological beginnings of the islands to statehood—he decided it could be told only in two separate films.

"But our financial people decided we could only do one picture at a time, so Fred dropped out of the picture," recalled

Mirisch. George Roy Hill was enlisted as director. Midway in the location filming, the Mirisches decided Hill was proceeding too slowly, and he was removed. But a threatened mutiny by the native actors restored Hill to command. "Hawaii" finished far over budget and opened to rather unkind notices, even in Hawaii. "Nobody liked it but the people," Mirisch remarked happily. Aided no doubt by the popularity of Julie Andrews, the film has already grossed over $20 million, with more expected from reissues and television.

The producer admitted that he was too weary at the completion of "Hawaii" to think about another film based on the Michener novel. But the picture's receipts buoyed his spirits, and last year he began preparations for "The Hawaiians."

"The title came to me in the middle of the night," he said.

James Webb wrote the script and Tom Gries ("Will Penny") will direct. The new story covers 35 years, picking up about 30 years after the end of "Hawaii." Charlton Heston will play Whip Hoxworth, son of the character portrayed by Richard Harris in the first film. The only other casting thus far is John Phillip Law, as Heston's son.

'Apollo Voice' Paul Haney Kicked Out Of Houston Job

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Apollo moon flight program is getting a new narrator.

Paul Haney, "The Voice of Apollo," said he had been boot-ed off the job after a series of acrimonious exchanges with Julian Scheer, chief of public affairs for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

In Washington, the agency announced that a former news-man, Brian Duff, was taking over Haney's assignment.

Haney told newsmen at a conference Tuesday he had re-ceived orders to report to Wash-ington Monday for a new job in NASA headquarters.

Haney said the move came after weeks of "badgering" from Scheer.

Scheer confirmed that Haney was getting a new job, but had no comment on Haney's account of what happened.

Scheer said Haney's new job would be to coordinate public

Reagan Rips High Court Welfare Rule

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) —Gov. Ronald Reagan says a Supreme Court decision has thrown California open to a mass invasion of the poor from other states.

He foresees a situation in which roaming indigents will use California as a vast winter resort, returning to their points of origin to spend their sum-mers.

Reagan said at a news confer-ence Tuesday that at the very least the Supreme Court deci-sion voiding residence require-ments for welfare applicants has confronted the nation's most populous state with a fiscal cri-sis.

Until now, California has en-forced a one year waiting period before placing needy persons from outside its borders on paid relief.

Reagan aides estimated the Supreme Court's elimination of such requirements would add 3,000 to 4,000 migrant poor to California welfare rolls each month, upping by $35 million a year the state, federal and coun-ty outlays for relief.

Reagan said the Supreme Court decision had created "nothing less than a bonus for migrating to California—merely to get on our welfare rolls."

Test Of Evans Gun Disclosed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Police witnesses in the first-degree murder trial of Fred "Ahmed" Evans have testified that a bullet found in a police ambulance was fired from a gun allegedly used by Evans during the July 23 gun battle with police.

The .30-caliber slug was found just recently after police deter-mined that although ambulance No. 591 had been damaged by gunfire it never had been ex-aminated for evidence. The pellet was found embedded in a wood-en bench in the rear of the am-bulance.

Detective Victor Kovacic tes-tified Tuesday that test shots from the .30 caliber carbine al-legedly used by Evans matched perfectly the slug taken from the ambulance.

The carbine is one that de-tectives have said they found after Evans told them his weapon was in a clump of bushes in front of the house on Lake-view Road where he was arrested.

The 37-year-old Evans is charged in the slayings of three policemen and a civilian. He is the first of five persons indicted in the July 23 shootings to stand trial in Common Pleas Court.

Former Cab Driver Held In Kidnaping

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — A former cab driver from Huntington, W. Va., was indicted by a federal grand jury Tues-day and charged with kidnaping a Chesapeake, Ohio, man.

Franklin M. King, 27, was in-dicted for allegedly kidnaping Gerald T. Sharp, 37, and forcing him to drive King into Ohio fol-lowing a Feb. 4 daytime rob-bery at a Huntington tavern where Sharp was a patron.

Leaders Attend Rites For Kettering

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—More than 500 government, business and military leaders paid tri-bute Tuesday to millionaire Day-ton industrialist and philanthro-pist Eugene W. Kettering, who died Saturday in New York at age 60.

Following the memorial ser-vice, Kettering was buried in a family cemetery.

Symington Rips ABM 'Secrecy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington, a leading critic of President Nixon's mis-sile defense program, says the administration is not allowing opponents of the Safeguard sys-tem the same access to classi-fied material enjoyed by sup-porters.

Too often, the Missouri Demo-cratic charged, the Pentagon re-fuses to disclose material on the Safeguard to its critics but lifts the security wraps to bolster the administration's position.

"When we want a reply, clas-sification prevents our getting at the facts," Symington said.

"It's always a problem," Symington complained about classification after seeking dis-closure Tuesday in the Senate Armed Services Committee hearing of what scale of nuclear attack would knock out pro-posed U.S. antimissile radars.

The figure was classified.

He protested again after asking scientist William G. Mc-Millan the source of his asser-tion that there is "considerable ABM potential" in the Soviet aerial defense system now being deployed. McMillan said that should be discussed privately.

"I just hope that when we get on the (senate) floor this time some people don't say 'If you only know what I know,'" Sym-ington said.

"Because if they do, I might be tempted to release about 10 per cent as much information as has been released by those who favor this," the senator contin-ued.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, joined Symington in the criticism after former De-fense research chief Dr. Her-bert York testified he was first denied a Pentagon ABM brief-ing and then given one only af-ter being called as a committee witness. York opposes Safe-guard.

"I was very much con-cerned," Mrs. Smith said. She also expressed her concern "If President Nixon and Secretary Laird are stacking the cards against critics of the ABM now."

Paul H. Nitze, once the No. 2 man at the Pentagon, told the committee Tuesday he does not think there is too much secrecy in the debate over deployment of ABM.

"Are you of the opinion that we are rather over-classified?" asked Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

"Not really," Nitze replied. "The amount of information which is available to the U.S. public is immense in relation-ship to the amount available in the Soviet Union."

He said the Armed Services Committee has access to all the information the Pentagon has.

Nitze and McMillan shared a microphone in support of ABM

Welfare Director Eyes Court Ruling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Assistant State Welfare Director Robert Canary says he doesn't have any way of guessing how Monday's U.S. Supreme Court ruling eliminating residency requirements for Aid to Dependent Children recipients will affect Ohio.

"I don't think there will be an added drastic increase... but undoubtedly it will add to our case load," Canary said. He added that the biggest effect on counties would be an increase in paper work.

Controversy Old Hat To PUCO Chief Johnson

(Editors Note: For Carl R. Johnson, controversy comes from everywhere in his job as chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. A discussion of some of the controversies, and what Johnson thinks of the work of his office is discussed in the following story. It is the second in a three-part series on the PUCO and how it operates.)

By DON BANDY
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—As chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, Carl R. Johnson is embroiled in controversy — from inside the commission and outside.

A primary function of the PUCO is to fix fair and reasonable rates to be charged by utilities for gas, electric and telephone service. It also regulates transportation in Ohio — trucks, railroads and buses.

The PUCO was created by the 1911 legislature to regulate the utilities because they are monopolies. They have no competition as do department stores and other business.

Is the PUCO doing its job? Johnson was asked this in an interview with The Associated Press.

"I have to believe we're doing a creditable job with a very small staff," he replied. He paused and added: "The utilities in Ohio have never gotten everything they've asked for."

Johnson says the total average monthly utility bill for Ohioans "compares favorably with any other state surrounding us. This is general, for the three services — gas, electric, telephone. Of course, you can single out individual rates and find that some are higher in Ohio."

Rate increases are a problem, Johnson said, "and a plight for the individual on a fixed-income. Any increase reduces this person's standard of living."

Johnson, 57 and baldish, has been chairman of the three-member commission since he was appointed to the PUCO by Gov. James A. Rhodes in 1963. The other two members are Elmer A. Keller and Kenneth B. Johnson, both Rhodes' appointees. Each term is for six years and only two members can be of the same political party. Johnson and Keller are Republicans and Johnson a Democrat. All three are lawyers.

The commission's authority to determine what rates are reasonable and in the public interest is limited by statute and by court decisions. In the controversial matters of utility rate increases, whatever the PUCO does is accompanied by criticism.

Johnson also is involved in a personal controversy. He was reappointed to the commission in February, but for unexplained reasons the Ohio Senate so far has failed to consent to the appointment although more than 100 other appointments have been routinely approved.

Sitting on the appointment is Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray R-3 Piquette chairman of the Senate Rules Committee. He won't say why.

John M. McElroy, Rhodes' top aide, says he does not know what's holding up the confirmation unless "someone wants to make him (Johnson) sweat." With or without confirmation, McElroy explained that Johnson still is permitted to serve on the commission. The Senate would have to vote to remove him.

Johnson himself says he did not anticipate any long delay. "I know of no reason why the Senate would withhold consent," he said. Johnson, however, is pleased with newspaper reports that utility lobbyists may be holding up his confirmation because he's too "tough."

"There are indications," he says, "that I dig too deep . . . do too much homework." Johnson said his relationship with the utilities is cordial.

Johnson also has been criticized that he is too slow in handing down decisions and delaying commission work by doing himself, research that could properly be assigned a PUCO employee.

Johnson and Keller are both longtime Rhodes allies. Both served in the state auditor's office when Rhodes was auditor. Keller also was Columbus city service director when Rhodes was mayor. Johnson has practiced law for seven years and worked in the State Department of Taxation 12 years. Friends and critics describe him as conscientious and hard-working.

For relaxation, Johnson is an addict to golf. "I would play 36 holes seven days a week if I could."

Keller, who admits to being past 70, was named to the commission Sept. 11, 1967, after serving five years as administrator of the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation. He admits he had a lot to learn when he was named to the PUCO.

Johnson, 66, who served as PUCO attorney 1949 - 51, was named a commissioner July 1, 1963. For several years he was a lawyer in the real estate division of the Ohio National Bank.

All three commissioners report they love the work.

"It's fascinating," says Johnson, the chairman. "I'm intensely interested in it. I don't often see eye to eye with other staff employees and we have some heated arguments. I have my own view points. I want to be involved."

(Next: Is PUCO a rubber stamp for utilities?)

High School Students Slate FFA Convention

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 5,000 high school students, plus school advisors and parents are expected in Columbus Friday and Saturday for the 41st annual convention of the Ohio Future Farmers of America.

Delegates to the convention will represent the 15,000 Ohio vocational agriculture students. All sessions are to be held at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Presbyterians Hold Convention

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Seventy-two representative pastors from 690 churches across the state will convene here Friday for the 89th United Presbyterian Synod of Ohio.

The synod, which represents some 285,000 United Presbyterians in Ohio, will elect a moderator who will preside over church affairs for a year. Dr. Theodore Lindner, a teacher of special education for the Cincinnati Board of Education, has been nominated for the post.

Decorating experts say there is no such thing as a bad color, just bad color combinations.

Most of the $2.5 million in resurfacing and maintenance projects are scheduled for 1969 mid-summer completions.

Largest of the projects was in Clermont and Hamilton Counties for widening and resurfacing 3.99 miles of Ohio 125. The Brewer Co. of Cincinnati entered the apparent low bid of $499,280 against a state estimate of $496,500.

Dear Abby:

Family Triangle — Who Is Right?

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I'd be writing to you, but I guess everybody says that. My 17-year-old sister was having problems at home in the East so my husband and I let her come live with us and our two children as we had plenty of room.

She gave me nothing but trouble from the beginning with late hours, borrowing the car, etc. She was graduated from high school here, and married a real bum. Anyway, she came over one day last week and started telling me how "cozy" she had been with my husband while she lived here. She said she didn't tell me at the time because she was afraid I would send her back East.

My husband is young and good looking and craves affection, but I never dreamed he'd touch a 17-year-old kid who always looked like a slob, and would probably tell me about it.

I questioned my husband; he said she was lying. I got them together and they both swore on a Bible the other was lying. Who should I believe? I am going crazy. I've never mistrusted my husband before, but why should my sister want to lie to me?

DEAR ABBY: I am 25 and single. Two years ago I decided that virginity was a thing of the past. During that time, all my relationships with men have been the same: Interest at first, then the sexual relationship, then a brief period of "going together." After that a gradual decline of interest, complaints about finances, fewer dates, and finally the desire to "be free."

DEAR ABBY: Right now my 8-year-old daughter is sitting in her room sulking. Why? Because I won't buy her a brassiere! Take my word for it, she has nothing to put in it, but she wants one anyway. She says all her friends wear them. I've seen her friends and I wouldn't know why any of them would be wearing a brassiere.

Should I give in and buy her one just to improve her disposition?

DEAR ABBY: Mothers who give in to improve their children's dispositions are letting themselves in for an endless improvement program. Tell your 8-year-old that when she needs a brassiere, you'll buy her one—but not until.

DEAR ABBY: A very good friend of mine promised her husband she'd quit smoking. She did, but now she chews tobacco instead, which I think is even worse. It's bad enough to see a man chewing, but a chewing woman is a disgrace. She claims a lot of women chew tobacco, but nobody knows it because they don't spit in public and they are careful not to let the tobacco juice gather in the corners of their mouth or "drool" like men do.

I have told her she wasn't fooling anybody, they know she is chewing, but she insists I'm wrong. I fear she has the habit so bad she can't quit. Will you please ask your readers to pray for her?

DEAR LUCY: The whole would could pray for her but unless the Lord has her cooperation, she'll continue to chew.

DEAR ABBY: I am 25 and single. Two years ago I decided that virginity was a thing of the past. During that time, all my relationships with men have been the same: Interest at first, then the sexual relationship, then a brief period of "going together." After that a gradual decline of interest, complaints about finances, fewer dates, and finally the desire to "be free."

I finally figured out that no matter how aggressive a guy is, he still wants a girl to hold out. And why not? Once you've slept with someone, what is there left to find out about them?

So now I'm being "good," not because of morals but because it's smart. After all, I want to get married some day, not be a service station all my life.

Draft Laws Explained

EDITOR'S NOTE: In an effort to create a greater public understanding of the laws and regulations governing the induction of personnel into the Armed Forces, the Selective Service System has prepared a series of pertinent questions and corresponding responses concerning provisions of the draft law. Here is another in the series.

Q. I am presently classified I-A-O. However, my father died within the last month and I am the sole support of my mother and 15-year old sister. Am I entitled to a III-A classification?

A. Regardless of your present classification, your change in status should be reported to your local board giving all details involved. You may at that time request the local board to reconsider your classification.

Q. As a registrant I have been convicted for refusing to report for induction. Does this violation extend my liability for military service?

A. Yes. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any registrant who has failed or refused to report for induction shall continue to remain liable for induction and when available shall be immediately inducted.

Q. My local board has reopened my classification because I furnished them additional information. If the board does not change my classification, may I appeal the decision?

A. Each time a board reopens a registrant's classification, the new classification given the registrant shall be followed by the same right of appeal.

Soviets Boost 'Med' Strength To 60 Ships

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — The Soviet navy boosted its Mediterranean fleet to about 60 ships today, roughly the same number participating in North Atlantic Treaty Organization war games in the area.

It as the second straight day that three Soviet ships entered the Mediterranean through the Turkish Straits, and there were reports from Istanbul that another ship was on its way. U.S. Adm. Horacio Rivero, commander of NATO forces in southern Europe had said the Russians may be planning naval maneuvers in the Mediterranean also.

One of the ships that arrived Monday was the 18,500-ton helicopter carrier Leningradno which, with its sister ship the Moskva, is the largest warship in the Soviet navy.

The arrival of the Leningradno gave the Soviet fleet helicopters to keep a close watch on the 12-day Dawn Patrol maneuvers begun by the NATO forces Monday.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The third in NBC's series on "The Ordeal of the American City" Tuesday night attempted to make some sense out of the dismaying and frightening disturbances afflicting many of the nation's colleges. It may have released some heat, but precious little light.

The 90-minute program had frightening, effective film footage of the turbulence at San Francisco State College. There was also some introspective talk by a teacher who stuck with the establishment in crisis and more from a compulsively outgoing colleague who joined the strikers.

But what remains murky to the television viewer who has sat through the nightly news shows and all the assorted documentary treatments including the most recent is the real cause of the trouble. Is it professional trouble makers? Is it a fad like panty raids? Or is there something real and valid at its base? We hear the dissenters make their demands, hear the sociologists speak of the anger and impatience of the ghettos.

But what appears on our screens seem to be an assortment of youthful show-offs most often dressed as if they were going to attend a masquerade party and chanting insulting jargon and, when questioned, making little sense. All of them seem to enjoy their brief moments in the TV sun.

Then, via tape, we are taken over the familiar rounds of the other side—the college administrators. But we hear little or nothing from the vast majority of students who are keeping away from the trouble centers and the cameras. There is little reflection of the public's attitudes, which must be undergoing some hardening.

Television news shows have the responsibility of covering current events. Television documentaries must do more. It may be the current crop about collegiate turmoil have jumped in too soon with too little to illuminate the screen.

NBC's major effort showed primarily film and tape on one college's troubles and it succeeded, unintentionally to be sure, in further confounding some viewers and angering more.

It may have tried to enlighten us but some of us came away with a feeling of sympathy for the San Francisco cops who had to wade into the unruly, insult-shouting mob.

Later, on CBS' "60 Minutes" there were refreshing excerpts from an astonishingly frank and perhaps indiscreet interview by Alice Roosevelt Longworth given months ago to a British journalist for broadcast in England.

Mrs. Longworth, now 85, is the daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt but visited the White House—"hideous," she said—first when Harrison was president. As the president's daughter she smoked in the early 1900s—"a scarlet woman," they thought then.

She described her distant cousin Eleanor Roosevelt as "frightfully earnest and given to good deeds," and even talked about what she called "the boy-meets-girl sort of thing" between Franklin D. Roosevelt and Lucy Mercer. Mrs. Longworth should have a nice little Washington-based TV show of her own.

Recommended tonight: "This Town Will Never Be the Same," NBC, 9-10 EST, newspaper drama with Barry Sullivan and E.G. Marshall. "The Japanese," CBS, 10-11, study of the oriental character and mores.

Kent Students Eye Boycott

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Students at Kent State University vote today on whether to hold a four-day classroom boycott at the 18,000-student campus in protest against suspension of students involved in recent campus demonstrations.

In addition to reinstatement of all students suspended, demands include lifting the suspension of the Kent chapter of student conduct code as of November, 1968, by the administration.

Tuesday Kent President Robert L. White announced the formation of an emergency student-faculty commission to resolve campus problems. White said the commission to "investigate and satisfactorily resolve present conflicts" was created by the student government and the faculty senate.

The Concerned Citizens of the KSU Community, held a teach-in on campus Tuesday night to acquaint students with the issues involved in today's vote.

There have been campus disorders off and on for three weeks at Kent State.

Rain Heavy In Northeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy rain soaked much of the Northeast today and filled streams to their banks in sections of southern New England. Flash flood warnings were in effect in parts of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Southern Vermont after 1 to 2 inches of rain. Locally heavier downpours hit some communities.

Gale warnings flew over the eastern Great Lakes for a second day. Winds clocked near 50 miles an hour lashed Boston late Tuesday night.

Cold air settling in behind the northeastern storm dropped temperatures into the low 40s from the Midwest to the Eastern Seaboard before daybreak. Even parts of the deep South awoke to readings near 40.

Showers and thundershowers washed the Pacific Northwest again and extended inland to the West-Central High Plains.

Viet Cong Soldiers Turned Over To NLF

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Khmer Press Agency says seven Viet Cong soldiers captured in Cambodia have been turned over to the National Liberation Front representative in Phnom Penh.

Nguyen Van Hieu, the front representative said the men, would be sent back to South Vietnam.

Gift Nixed; Too Costly

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Indianapolis teacher David Hal-den, serving as an exchange teacher in England, wrote fellow teachers here recently that he was unable to accept their gift of $5.46 worth of smoking tobacco.

British customs demanded more than $50 duty, he explained.

L.E. Lowe, one of the teachers who sent the gift, wrote the British Embassy protesting the charge.

An embassy staff member replied that the duty on tobacco in England is $11.55 a pound, and added that British customs officers were only doing what the U.S. customs officials would do.

U.S. customs officer Allen Bell said the U.S. duty on tobacco is 17½ cents a pound, going up to $2.27 for leaf tobacco.

And an unsolicited gift costing less than $10 normally would be admitted duty free, he said.

Woman Charged In Man's Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Connie James, 22, was charged with first-degree murder Tuesday night in the shotgun death of Clarence C. Brown, 48, the father of seven children, police reported.

Three other persons were taken into custody as material witnesses.

The body of Brown, last seen Thursday night when he left home to go on a camping trip, was found the next day in the trunk of an abandoned car here.

Men Face Long Terms For Rape

NEW YORK (AP) — Two New York men face prison terms of up to 25 years for the rape slaying last summer of a 13-year-old runaway Ohio girl.

Ronnie Alfio, 27, and David Thomas, 31, pleaded guilty Tuesday to first-degree rape charges. They were accused of luring Deborah Neill of Vickery, Ohio, into a Chinatown apartment on the night of July 15, 1968 and then raping her. The girl's body was found later at the bottom of an airshaft in the building.

Justice George Postel of the Manhattan Supreme Court ordered the two men held for sentencing.

Colleges Want To Regulate Selves

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State universities fear they will become "faceless" if the legislature passes a bill to require the Ohio Board of Regents to determine faculty work loads and standards.

For two hours Tuesday state university officials paraded before the Ohio House Education Committee to testify against the substitute bill sponsored by the Chairman, Rep. Mark C. Schinnerer, R-49 Lakewood.

"We can regulate ourselves," Dr. Phillip R. Shriver, president of Miami University, told the committee.

Shriver said the bill "would make us faceless universities," forcing the 12 state universities into "close conformity."

He said if reform was needed it could be accomplished by the schools themselves.

Shriver, as well as most representatives from the universities, said they feared allowing the Regents to be changed from a coordinating board to a controlling board.

The bill requires the board to do five things by Sept. 1, 1969: —Establish faculty workload standards.

—Set maximum enrollment limitations at the main campus of each state university.

—Establish maximum enrollment limitations at the main campus of each state university.

—Establish standards for staffing departmental administration, library services, instructional services, student personnel services and general administration services.

—Set salary standards for general administrative personnel.

The president of troubled Kent State University, Dr. Robert White, said if the Regents set faculty standards, it would give "the finest aid and comfort" to violent student protests.

White said faculty members "must feel they are participating and are shareholders" in the decisions made by the university.

"As you know, Kent State and myself have been tormented for the past two weeks," White said of the student unrest set off by the militant Students for a Democratic Society.

But, he added, partly because KSU faculty members feel they are part of the university, they have supported administration actions.

The president of the University of Akron, Norman P. Auburn, said the bill would "weaken the grass roots interest" in universities.

Noodle Making In Stoutsville

ASSEMBLY LINE — An assembly line process was necessary to prepare the miles of noodles made by the class. Kate Smith and Virginia Brown (left) prepare the long strips of uncut dough as Georgia Zeimer operates the noodle cutting machine and Alfredia Ratcliff and Erma Wynkoop prepare the cut noodles for drying.

It was noodle making time at Stoutsville Monday, and ladies of the Willing Workers Class of the Heidelberg Church turned out to do the work.

The seven ladies started early Monday morning to prepare the miles of noodles that will be served at the church money making supper Saturday night. Like all of the noodle suppers, this one will be family style.

Over 100 pounds of dough was kneaded, rolled, mixed, sliced and cut in one day. Use of a new noodle cutting machine made the work faster and easier than in other years.

The cooks mixed 60 dozen eggs and 75 pounds of flour along with seasonings to create the homemade noodles.

ROLLING DOUGH — Members of the Willing Workers Class began mixing dough in the church basement early Monday. Erma Wynkoop and Kate Smith then rolled and cut the dough into sections small enough to be fed into the noodle cutting machine.

CUTTING NOODLES — Mrs. Georgia Zeimer operates the new noodle cutting machine. The flat long strips of dough were fed into one end and came out in long evenly sliced noodles.

Mexican Indians Prove Heart Conditioning Is Possible

CHICAGO (AP) — Mexican Indians noted for their ability to run long distances without tiring demonstrate that most people do not develop their cardiac systems to fullest potential, a researcher reported today.
The Tarahumaras have been known to run a race, kicking a wooden ball the size of a tennis ball, for distances as great as 160 miles at an elevation of 8,000 feet.
"I've never seen anything comparable to it," said Dr. Dale Groom, a cardiologist and professor of medicine at the University of Oklahoma. He reported his findings at the 50th annual meeting of the American College of Physicians.
In contrast to American athletes, the Tarahumaras of northern Mexico showed no evidence of heart enlargement, he said.
The Indians' endurance seems to result from conditioning, Dr. Groom said. They start training in childhood for marathon running.
Dr. Groom examined eight runners ranging in age from 18 to 48 before, during and after a 28.6-mile race in rugged terrain.
The average speed of the winning team over the course was about 6 miles an hour. While the runners lost an average of five pounds each and some rises were noted in blood pressure and pulse rate, their electrocardiograms were normal, he said.
"Most remarkable is the simple fact that the human cardiovascular system can be conditioned to withstand with extreme physical exertion," Dr. Groom said. The Indians present "very convincing evidence that we develop but a fraction of our cardiac reserve," he added.
Dr. Groom was aided by Dr. John Steelquist of San Diego, Calif., and the Rev. Jose A. Llaguna, a priest at the Jesuit mission in Sisoquichi, Chihuahua.
